

Read & Go Challenge!

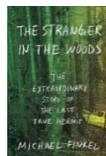

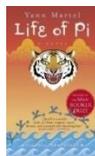

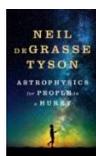

2018 Libraries Rock! Adult Summer Reading Challenge

Find inspiration in a book and let the adventures begin!

Books allow us to see the world from a new perspective. Think of this challenge as a way to explore not only new reading selections but activities that you might not otherwise try.

What could be more exciting than letting the adventures and activities of our literary friends inspire your own! Focus on the part of a story that most interests you or makes you feel alive and let it inspire you to try something you've never done or go somewhere new!

Examples:

Girl on a Train by Paula Hawkins might inspire you to ride the local train to a new destination for lunch with a friend.

Astrophysics for People in a Hurry by Neil deGrasse Tyson might get you stargazing on a clear summer evening or visiting a planetarium.

Life of Pi by Yann Martel might be just the thing to get you cooking Indian dishes.

Stranger in the Woods by Michael Finkel might inspire you to explore a new forest trail.

Flight Behavior by Barbara Kingsolver may inspire you to use our museum pass to enjoy the Butterfly Place.

Are you up for the challenge?

*After reading your first book, return to the library for your official Adventure Log Book!

As you read, highlight or jot down the activities or locations that seem interesting to try and then grab a friend or strike out on your own, and go explore!

Read a total of 10 books from the Read & Go Summer Reading Challenge categories (on the back of this sheet.) The categories are not meant to limit your reading choices...merely to inspire you. How each book fits the category is completely up to you. Let your imagination run wild. Anything goes!

If you read 10 books by August 24, then you get to pick one of the following great prizes.
